

SUBARU VIDEOS

To put a face behind this dispute, I decided to make a Youtube video. Not wanting to waste money on a professional production, I had a friend interview me and I made the video myself. I imagined millions of viewers learning about the horrors of a Subaru warranty in my thrilling video. While Maurice moved on to slightly better things, I'm still stuck fighting a second rate car company. Life is not fair!

So now that you know the history behind the production, grab some popcorn, sit back, and watch. But be warned, I've been told that it is not quite the thrilling entertainment I had hoped for (Note to self: Maybe making videos is not my particular talent in life).

I also made another video, but decided to remove it. A Subaru affiliate claimed that a couple of the statements I made placed them in a bad light, and I wanted to be sure that everything on this site was directed at Subaru alone.
